

WOMAN OF THE MOMENT

HANNA BACHMANN

Pianistin

Wien/Röthis

Foto: Nancy Horowitz

Although Hanna Bachmann does not come from a musical family and started her career classically by learning the recorder, Kirill Petrenko, the Russian conductor, claims she “is already a mature individual on the grand piano” at only 25. At the age of 12 she enrolled at the academy of music in Feldkirch, studied for her Bachelor at the Mozarteum in Salzburg in 2011 where she completed her Bachelor in 2015 and subsequently completed her Master’s degree with distinction two years later. She has been allocated awards in many national and international competitions, has performed throughout Europe, but also in Mexico, the United States of America and Canada. In 2017 she was awarded the Richard Wagner Society’s scholarship (Vorarlberg) and her donated sponsorship from the county of Vorarlberg followed in 2018. Her two CDs have been highlights whereby the second, which has just been launched, devotes itself to the theme of humour.

I feel myself too young for...

...faint-heartedness.

I am too old...

...to put up with everything.

I regret that I...

...often worry unnecessarily about things I have no control over.

When I can't sleep...

...I read a little and relax by doing autogenous training or Feldenkrais.

As a child I really wanted...

...to learn a musical instrument and have a cat.

When I sit at the grand piano...

...I indulge in my passion and I forget my surroundings.

With my music I want to...

...reach out and touch people.

My recipe for success is...

...concentration and to remain focused.

I listen to my favourite music, classical piano music and orchestral music...

...while having my breakfast which is a good start to the day.

The positive side of art is...

...that it attracts everyone in a special way.

The negative side of art is...

...when one forgets everything else, however, this could also be seen as a positive trait.

I can never say 'no' to...

...visiting a bookshop.

If I were a man, I'd...

...treasure women.

The last time I said 'I love you' was...

...when my boyfriend offered to massage my feet.

I can laugh until I cry...

...over dry British humour.

I feel as though I'm in heaven when...

...a magical moment occurs during a concert.

My last words should be...

...'I did my very best'.